WE PROMOTE INNOVATIVE MEDIA PROJECTS FOR STUDENTS AND START-UPS

WHO WE PROMOTE

The Media Innovation Center Babelsberg (MIZ) funds innovative media projects and promotes media expertise. Your idea outthinks TV, radio and/or online media? You are still studying, recently graduated or are founding a start-up company? Then we would love to help you realize your idea! We promote students up to three years after graduation and start-ups in the founding process or up to three years after establishment. Individuals or project teams with a sphere of influence in Berlin-Brandenburg may apply.

HOW WE PROMOTE

We will support your project through a demand-driven scholarship (individual funding) including production budget. There is a total of 30,000 Euros per project available. Through our network and individual coachings we will help you to overcome your challenges in the innovation process. We provide you with office space at MIZ. You will also have access to our radio and television studio as well as the editing and production equipment.

HOW TO APPLY

Please submit a brief project outline (max. 3 pages), in which you point out the innovation value and broadcasting connection of your idea and explain what goal you want to achieve with the help of our promotion.

We also need a CV with reference projects, possibly a team description as well as a time and financing plan. Please note that only complete documents may be taken into account. Applicants with eligible project ideas will be invited to a mandatory consultation prior to the submission of the final application documents. All relevant information is compiled in the Infobroschüre für Studierende, Start-ups und Medienprofis.
